Centenary of Work and Worship at Burnbank Street

Greetings and Acknowledgements

WE EXTEND greetings to all our people including those who return for these Celebrations and those who are unable to join the happy festival.

We look back over the years of Christian enterprise, of joys and sorrows, of ministry and labour. We recall faithful workers in Church and Sunday School who, in season and out of season, have carried on the work.

Names of some who have entered into their rest come prominently to mind, but those who laid the foundations, the pioneers in the mining days, have earned our gratitude which we can only give to God Himself.

We therefore set down our sense of gratitude to Almighty God for the heritage left to us.

“Great the heritage they left us,
Great the conquests to be won.”

We realize that our suite of buildings, which have been so adequate, have now, in some respects, come to the stage when it is uneconomic to spend money on repairs, and have already carried forward preparations for rebuilding both Church and Parsonage.

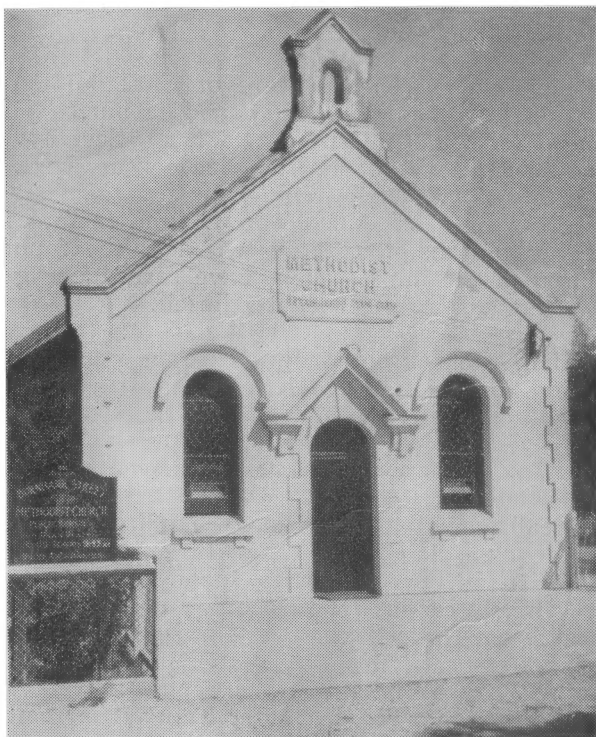

Whatever, therefore, those who come to share our reunion, out of past gratitude and what may be their ability to help, are able to give, will be wholly devoted to this worthy purpose.

To all those who have helped in the compilation of names and in supplying data for this book, we extend our grateful thanks.

“Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto Thy name
give glory.”

Minister's Message

Dear Friends,

This booklet will set forth some of the facts and recall some of the names of those who, in the distant past, have built up our tradition and given us our standing in the community.

Our history, as to records, is very meagre. Minute books have, in the end, been discovered, but they were not written for reproduction, hence resolutions and anniversary arrangements. The appointment of officers, etc., are not over interesting except in so far as they challenge us to new dedication and devotion.

I recollect a line of a poem which said, "We are dwindled sons of little men." Never let it be said! But when we look round our fair city with its glorious churches, and throughout the country where, in places, beautiful and substantial buildings are virtually neglected, we are reminded of our Godly forebears. They gave royally. They worked splendidly. They worshipped reverently and were loyal to the great traditions of their particular denominations.

Can we match their devotion? Is our practice of our Christianity a match for theirs? There are those who remember packed churches morning and night and seats down the aisle of Burnbank Street not an infrequent happening. Wherever we now live, let us worship God as our first and supreme duty.

Our Centenary comes opportunely when we are all set to rebuild church and parsonage. As we review the past we set our faces immediately to the challenging future. To really succeed we need a Spiritual Revival to give us the driving force to meet the material sacrifices necessary to pay our way and the devotion to make our sacrifice and effort worth while.

The Story of Methodism in Burnbank Street

UNFORTUNATELY the records of the beginnings of the Churches in this Pastorate have been lost in antiquity. If the pioneers and those who followed them had only known how interested we would be in these records in this Centenary Year of Methodism, what care they would have taken over their preservation. Burnbank Street was originally a Primitive Methodist Church.

Only in 1935 did the present congregation learn the genesis of the Burnbank Street Church, thanks to a letter sent by Mr. W. E. Buckle, of Brisbane, a son of the minister who first commenced meetings in this community. A letter describing the beginnings of the cause was sent to Mr. P. E. Simpson in 1908, but somehow it never reached Mr. Simpson, and was returned to the Rev. Joseph Buckle. It was later discovered by his son amongst the papers which he left at his death. The following is the relevant portion of the letter—

“The genesis of the Burnbank Street Methodist Church was the result of a camp meeting held more than 59 years ago. The day the camp meeting was held was especially trying to those who took part in the procession—a very hot north wind was raging and clouds of dust enveloped us. The camp meeting was held between the lake and the cemetery, the lake acting as a break to the hot wind. A large congregation assembled. The preachers were divinely assisted; the word spoken spread like fire amongst dry stubble, and many were led to decide for Christ. The officials decided to hold regular services in the locality. A large building previously occupied as a store, was empty and for sale. Thus was purchased and converted into a Church. If I do not err, the proprietor held the land under his Miner's Right. This he transferred to us, the transfer being duly registered in the Warden's Court.”

When Mr. Buckle left Ballarat a Church, Sunday School and Band of Hope were established. The cause grew and demanded a new building, and the present Church was built in 1864 during the ministry of Rev. Samuel Bracewell. The foundation stone was laid by Mr. J. Richardson on June 6, 1864, and opened on August 5 of the same year.

At Methodist Union in 1902, the congregation of the Wesleyan Church in Macarthur Street joined with Burnbank Street. In 1912 a probationer was stationed at Burnbank Street, and later with a married minister it became the head of the Pastorate. The Parsonage was moved from Sebastopol, and has been the residence of successive ministers.
